TILDEN'S YOUNG LOVE.

The Disappointment Which Turned Him Away From Social Inter-course.

(New York Letter.)

The rough usage which youths of Seminole nature were used to receive at Yale by their associates probably had some influence on the future destiny of the man, for when he recovered sufficiently to again pursue his studies he chose to complete his education at the New York university. Here Samuel made rapid progress, but in his new life met with an incident which came near wrecking his life.

He became a regular student to participate in the festivities of the gay city life. He had gradually become known to his associates and the leaders of the Democratic party as a political writer and critic of some importance, and was a welcome guest among the families of the better class of society. Men who hoped to gain publicity through the pen of Tilden courted his favor, and he was the recipient of many courteous attentions as well as the侵害.

Miss Mary Louise Morse was one of the prettiest and most talented of city belles, who had many and sought in vain. Miss Morse had thrown a radiant beam across the path of young Tilden, a pathway which had never before been crossed by Cupid. For a time it seemed that the young student had lost all ambition for learning. The new life was a happy one. His health was improving. His friends and admirers were numerous, and withal he was a gay youth. He had become infatuated with poor Young Tilden's ambitions then turned toward gaining the hand of this beautiful woman in marriage.

By a means attractive figure, with no fortune and with very dim prospects, the youth had little or nothing to lay at the feet of the lovely maid.

Nothing daunted, Samson was determined to win her over.

He accordingly applied to his mother and father for funds and angel pride paid the most despatched of his life.

On the other hand, the haughty miss had seen him, and could not entertain a ray of love for her suitor, and before Tilden was aware of his fate his lady-love had been led to the altar by more pretentious and wealthy admirers.

The boy fell heavily, and for a time appeared destined to change the course of Tilden's life.

Most men would have quailed under the severe test and gone deeper into the dissipations and intemperances of a gay life. But not so here. Taking a solemn vow against all future social pleasures and aspirations the youth threw off his foppishness and returned once more to his books. With high hopes Tilden graduated from the New York university, and shortly after astonished the professors by his brilliant oration and collected manner by the publication of his and all its various diseases, Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Blister, Carbuncles, Burns, and Ulcers of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure these diseases the blood must be purified, and restored to a healthy and invigorated condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by our medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence, and the secret of its success lies in the fact that the sarsaparilla root, and no other, is used in its preparation, and proves itself a complete master of all such diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

"Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (ulcers) on my legs. The disease had badly swollen and inflamed them, and I suffered much pain. I tried India rubber, Salvia, Sarsaparilla, and other nostrums, but with no success. I then took a dose of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and the result was wonderful, not only in the cure of this bad, but in my own case and many others within his knowledge.

The well-known Medical Herald B. W. Lyle, of Zeph. U. & H., writes June 4, 1883:

"Having suffered severely for some years with ulcers, and having failed in all that relied on other remedies, I have made use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and the results are most satisfactory. It is a perfect remedy for all kinds of skin diseases, and especially for those which are chronic, and have resisted all other treatment. It is a safe and reliable medicine, and I can heartily recommend it to all who are suffering from such diseases."

REPUBLICAN SENATORS IN CAUCUS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Republican senators were in caucus from 10 until 12 o'clock discussing the reorganization of the senate. Senator Mahon was present. At the beginning a motion was carried to proceed to the nomination of a caucus candidate for secretary of the senate. Mr. James N. St. John nominated George C. Gorham of California. Mr. Miller of New York nominated Gen. Anson G. McCook of New York. Mr. Harrison of Indiana nominated D. M. Ransdell of Indiana.

Eloquent speeches were made in support of each candidate, and a running debate followed. A majority of the senators present took Gorham.

The opponents of Gorham took the ground that his attitude as a journalist, in respect to the Garfield-Cleveland differences and the state-trust trade was such as to create bitter enemies toward himself, and his nomination for the secretaryship would have a tendency to revive party differences which were in process of being forgotten.

Gorham, stating while he was not present to influence the result of his vote, he had a duty toward his constituents to perform. The defeat of Gorham would be misinterpreted. In the South, in substance, disapprovement of the Bopal movement. He (Mahon) of the such a condition of affairs.

He explained Gorham's work in connection with the liberal movement and stated he would support the nominees of the caucus. Mahon did not vote upon the nominations. Ransdell was not present.

Upon a formal ballot, the vote stood:

Mahon, 16; Gorham, 15; Ransdell, 3.

A formal ballot followed immediately and resulted: Mahon, 19; Gorham, 13; Ransdell, 3.

Gen. McCook was declared the nominee of the caucus.

Adjourned, to reassemble after adjournment of the Senate.

The caucus reassembled after adjournment of the Senate, and nominated Chase, W. Johnson, and James N. St. John of Indiana, and George C. Gorham of Pennsylvania, for secretary of the senate.

Rev. E. E. Huntley of the Methodist Church, Washington, formerly of Wisconsin, chaplain Col. W. P. Canaday of North Carolina, sergeant-at-arms.

A resolution was adopted unanimously to retain the same soldiers now on the rolls of the senate in their positions. These were only six votes against the nomination of Canady.

HOW THIS WORLD IS GIVEN TO LYING.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. It is probable that the nomination of a postmaster for St. Louis will be made before the holiday recess of the senate. Section 1708 of the revised statutes provides that "the president shall, within thirty days after the commencement of each session of the senate, except for any office which, in his opinion, ought to be filled, nominate persons to fill vacancies in offices which existed at the meeting of the senate, whether temporarily or otherwise."

It is safe to say that neither Mr. Fisher nor Mr. Bennett will be nominated as Mr. Hayes' successor. There is reason to believe that the chances are in favor of the nomination of Gen. W. F.ishback, and that he will be nominated by the holiday adjournment.

A BULLET IN HIS BRAIN.

Yet Charles Reimer is Alive and Well and Working Regularly.

TO BE Had for the Asking.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—It is generally known that one member of Congress has been shot in the head in the course of the third volume of details of Ex-Captain Lawrence's distribution, which lawless in their respective districts can obtain by writing to them. The seller-sure are of value, as they may enter into the issue of warrants and their payment, revision of accounts of registers, and other documents, examination of soldiers and sailors drawn to the Admiralty and Consular authorities, requests for advances drawn by marshals, collectors of internal revenue and other districts, powers of attorney and all manner of authority to exchange and remit sums of government bonds.

A late Hearing Assured.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—It will be predicted that the commerce committee will be organized to give a fair hearing to the interests of legislation relating to interstate railroad transportation. That is to say, that the committee will not another bill relating to the subject, but will report to the house and give that body an opportunity to review its wisdom.

Reagan, the late chairman of the committee, is hopeful of securing legislation on his well-known Reagan bill, but is somewhat doubtful whether so late a measure will be passed even by the house.

Discharged from Custody.

LINCOLN, Ill., Dec. 14. The Russell, Tracy, and Hinde, alias Hunter, arrested in Peoria Saturday night charged with wilful shooting. Important evidence in the "Zebra Party" case for a money consideration, was solved by the authorities without a preliminary hearing. All efforts to draw out a confession of knowledge were fruitless, and the young man, who was a lowly-grade chum of the committee, is hopeful of securing legislation on his well-known Reagan bill, but is somewhat doubtful whether so late a measure will be passed even by the house.

A SAN FRANCISCO man advertised for "320 red headed girls—must be good looking," and no one response was received. A few days later he advertised for "320 golden-haired beauties," and before the paper was out two hours the street in front of his office was crowded with just the style of beauty he desired. Self Life Tribune.
